Drudgery, Harsh Word.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

RAISED by his own effort from humble workman to British prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald gives advice for success that will not attract modern youth.

"Accustom yourself to drudgery. Get your heart into your work, whatever it may be, for work without heart is dead. Discipline yourself to drudgery, for by that you gain a mastery both over yourself and the world."

THAT word "drudgery" has a harsh sound. But without drudgery there is no great success, even for genius. Edison's definition of genius, "ten per cent inspiration, 90 per cent perspiration," applies to every form of genius, from Michael Angelo to Pasteur.

Sons or great men rarely make a mark in the world. Their fathers' success enables them to escape drudgery.

THE American Museum of Natural History includes in its treasures recently acquired the fossil skeleton of a crocodile said by scientists to be fifty million years old.

It seems strange to think of a day 49,988,000 years before the late stone age of man when that crocodile, with long mouth, low forehead, sluggish movements, was perhaps the most intelligent being on earth.

AFTER trying to digest that, you read in Eddington's "Nature of the Physical World" that matter on the constellation Sirius weighs about 2,000 pounds to the cubic inch.

The high temperature, if you wish an explanation, is up (down) the gas electron system of the atom, so that fragments are packed more closely together.

IT is as though our solar system were packed full of suns or planets. Instead of having them scattered far apart. The system would weigh more.

Fifty-million-year-old crocodiles and crowded atoms make you feel that pure science must be meant for the few.

RUSSIA agrees to withdraw from India propaganda apostles preaching Communism to Hindus.

Britain renews full diplomatic and commercial relations, and will lend Russia $50,000,000 to start business going, which is common sense.

OUR government thinks it is our duty to regulate Russia's government and refuses to recognize Russia.

American big business is wiser. The General Electric company, of which Gerard Swope is president and Mr. Young chairman of the board, gives Russia credit for more than twenty millions as a start, sells to Russia vast quantities of machinery, including machinery for generating electricity by water power, biggest of its kind ever made.

Bessie Rice Asks $50,000 Heart Balm

FRANK AZDELL IS NAMED IN LISBON SUIT

Maplewood Woman Files Action Against Dairyman.

ORDER ISSUED

Plaintiff says Wedding Was Set for October 1.

Suit for $50,000 heart balm for his alleged failure to go through with a proposed marriage ceremony, was filed in the Columbiana county court, Lisbon, yesterday by Mrs. Bessie Rice, Maplewood, against Frank Azdell, Maplewood dairyman.

Planned Trip to Falls. A temporary order, restraining Azdell from disposing of his property, was granted by Judge W. F. Loe.

The petition, filed by Attorney Ben L. Bennett, charges Azdell and Mrs. Rice have been "keeping company" since November, 1925, and that during that time the defendant frequently proposed to the plaintiff. On June 22, 1929, they were to be married, as the wedding was set for October 1, 1929.

The plaintiff charges that she arranged for the forthcoming event by "expending a large sum of money for clothing" for a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, N. Y., and that the defendant "likewise purchased clothing for himself for the trip." Announcement of the approaching marriage was also made to friends.

At the request of Azdell, Mrs. Rice says that she quit her position which paid her $125 a month. Charges Defendant Suggested Suit. On the night before the proposed ceremony, the plaintiff charged Azdell called her by telephone, telling her that because of the objection of his family he would not marry her, and that she should compensate her for her loss. Azdell, the petition says, requested Mrs. Rice to file an action for damages.

Later Azdell left a "small sum of money" at the home of Mrs. Rice, it is charged, but that she refused to accept it. On the following morning another sum was left at the house when Azdell delivered the milk, the petition sets forth.

Home of Victor Bashaw, 156 Laurel lane, was quarantined by health board officials yesterday when Bashaw was found to be suffering from smallpox.

Two cases of the malady are now under quarantine, the other victim being Paul Cowey, 838 St. George street. Fourteen cases were quarantined during August and September.

Two cases of scarlet fever are also under quarantine. The city has no diphtheria and typhoid fever cases, health board officials said.

KERNAHAN AIDES ATTEND DINNER

Representatives of all East Liverpool churches co-operating in the Kernahan visitation campaign assembled at the First Church of Christ, East Fourth street, last night, and sat down to a dinner prepared by women of the congregation. Reports of the campaign were submitted.

Dr. Kernahan rushed in turn to Chester, W. Va., and Wellsville to hear reports turned in at dinners there.

FORMER NEWELL COUPLE MISSING

Search for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keifer, formerly of Newell, who have been missing from their home near Cambridge since Sunday afternoon, is being made in eastern Ohio today. Mrs. Keifer is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Schilling, Grant street, Newell.

The couple left their gasoline filling station on the National highway, three miles west of Cambridge at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon for an automobile ride. They had not returned today, and friends and relatives believed that they have met with an accident.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Keifer, who is married, lives in Cambridge.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Press Plane, acting as one of the advance guard of the airplanes taking part in the 1929 air reliability contest, landed at Roosevelt Field at 10:40 o'clock this morning.

This Press plane, which left Springfield, Mass., was compelled by fog to land at Albany.

When the ships hopped off at Springfield this morning to fly to Roosevelt Field they were led by Miss May Halslip of Kansas City.

Four-Day Cooking School Wins Favor

JAMES BREEM SOUGHT HERE

Harry M. Broom, 606 North Canal street, Pittsburgh, today asked police here to assist in locating his father James M. Broom, 62, whom he has not heard from since 1917.

The elder Broom was working as a brakeman for the Crucible Steel company, Midland, when he was seen by his brother in East Liverpool about 12 years ago. He was born at Gavers, this county, and was well known in the Summitville, Millport and Salineville district.

Train Wrecks Auto. NILES, O., Oct. 8.—(INS)—Miraculously escaping death when his automobile was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio freight train late last night and ground to pieces between the freight and gondola cars on another track, Frank Wroblewski of McDonald was reported going about his work as usual today, nursing only a few scratches.

The far-reaching benefits of such a course of lectures by so notable an authority as Mrs. Northcross make the cooking school an especially worthwhile event. She has had many years of experience, with a nationwide reputation for bringing timely hints on the world's oldest and most important calling, that of coping with the responsibilities of a home, such as marketing, budgeting, child feeding, diets for fat and lean, menu planning, time and labor-saving appliances, and also, that equally important angle of modern housekeeping—charm and beauty in home appointments.

The cooking school will be an enjoyable and constructive conference on housework and not a social or theoretical entertainment. Housekeepers are entitled to receive practical information from a lecturer of mature experience. Blanks will be provided at the hall of which questions may be asked, and Mrs. Northcross will devote time to answering inquiries concerning cookery and any phase of home economics.

The recipes demonstrated each day will be printed and may be taken home.

Auto Hits Fremont Boy. FREMONT, O., Oct. 8.—(INS)—William Wetherell, 14-year-old high school freshman, is suffering from a possible fracture of the skull today. The lad was run down by an automobile while riding his bicycle. He was delivering newspapers at the time.

Bleacherites Rush For Dollar Seats As Cubs, Macks Clash

Old-time Cattle Stampede of Western Plains Recalled as Army of Cheerless Figures, After Shivering Throughout Night, Pushes Through Gates for Series Opener.

"EVERY MAN FOR HIMSELF" IS RULE AS TURNSTILES BEGIN TO CLICK

Long Vigil Enlivened Shortly Before Dawn By Small Riot Involving Independent Vendors of Hot Dogs and Coffee and Authorized Concessionaires of Chicago Park.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—(INS)—A waiting army of cheerless figures that stood shivering throughout the night against the cold wall of Cubs' park came suddenly to life at 7:30 a. m. today and took "Fort Wrigley" with a rush and a roar that resembled an old-time cattle stampede of the western plains.

They were the hardy privates in the great army of American baseball fandom, each ready to fight for one of the 12,000 one-dollar bleacher seats to the first game of the world series.

As the turnstiles began to click, the camaraderie and jovial goodfellowship that had stood the test of long hours of waiting gave way to mad frenzy and keen rivalry that meant "every man for himself."

The long vigil was enlivened shortly before dawn by a small riot involving independent vendors of hot dogs and coffee and authorized concessionaires of Wrigley Field. Police finally ended this "entertainment" by hauling three of the combatants to jail.

Police Battle Mob. Many of those who stuck it out through the night came fortified with boxes, folding chairs, rugs and other articles to make comfortable seats. One woman had a portable radio. Several groups of men played cards by candle light.

At the time the gates for bleacher seats finally opened, 500 police battled a sports-mad mob which had become increasingly impatient as the chill of pre-dawn filtered through heavy blankets and clothes.

The quaint old Spanish custom of strolling in circles in the parkways had been revived long before daylight as many from far distant states raced furiously about the Wrigley Field enclosures in an effort to keep warm.

Reunions Among Fans. There were many reunions among the fans.

"I had rafted far but my pal Don Hader of Lincoln, Neb., didn't," explained Everett Sturmer, also of Lincoln. "He started several days ago by hopping freight and hitch-hiking. We were to meet at the bleacher gates and here we are."

"I closed my store and told my employees to take a vacation" announced George Sheeley of Dixon, Ill.

Tom Carnet and C. H. Green, both of La Junta, Colo., said the freight train service between Cubs' city and Denver was great. Jack Cramer of Pittsburgh and Eddie Patterson of Montreal, Que., said riding was not so good, however.

"Endurance sitting contests mean nothing to me," said pretty Mrs. Poncho Peters, 25, and her husband, here from Albany, N. Y.

Mack's Rooters on Job. CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—(INS)—Shouting and waving banners, an enthusiastic and confident crowd of Philadelphia fans streamed off a special baseball train today.

They laughed and pushed and yelled their way up the trainshed. In the station concourse they gathered to give a big "Pennsylvania" led by an impromptu cheer leader.

The party was led by Mayor Harry Mackey of Philadelphia, his "famous fifty" friends of his who are attending the games at his invitation.

"Of course we'll win," the mayor grinned. "What else do you think we came for?"

ROTARY HEARS BETHANY AID

Dr. B. R. Welmer, professor of biology, at Bethany college, gave a stereoscopic picture, "Before Adam," at today's luncheon of the Rotary club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. He was introduced by Edwin Wells, Jr., superintendent of the No. 5 plant of the Homer Laughlin China company. Joseph Betz will be chairman of next Tuesday's luncheon at which District Governor Arthur R. Christy, Fremont, will be a guest.

FOUR IN ROW IS MACK AIM

"But You Can Never Tell," Says A's Pilot.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—(INS)—"We are out to win in as few games as possible—in four if we can—but this is a short series and you never can tell what may happen. What do you think?"

There you have the terse rejoinder from Connie Mack's lips if you're lucky enough to hold his attention long enough to inquire as to the hopes of the Philadelphia Athletics in the world series warfare with the Cubs, starting today at Wrigley field.

It's just a case of the interviewer being interviewed. The lean leader of the American league monarchs, despite his 30 years' service as a manager and 10 campaigns as a player, admits that chance plays such a prominent part in the game that his own opinion is really no better than the other fellow's guess.

Dopesters find scant enlightenment in the vital statistics. It is known to everybody that each contender packs a tremendous wallop offensively. There is little difference in their team batting records for the season, and in fielding the flag winners of each circuit rated first.

DISTRICT MEET OF METHODISTS OPENS OCT. 14

Pastors Will Hold
Two-day Session
Here.

LIST SPEAKERS

Rev. Dr. Edwards of
New York on Program.

The one hundred and thirteenth semi-annual session of the Steubenville district conference will be held as a part of the celebration of the one hundred and second anniversary of the founding of the First Methodist Episcopal church here on next Monday and Tuesday.

The Rev. Dr. H. S. Powell, of Steubenville, who will preside over its deliberations, is superintendent of the district. Bishop Herbert Welch, D. D., of Pittsburgh, is general superintendent.

One of the speakers will be the Rev. C. R. Loney, assistant pastor of the First church here. He will discuss "Religious Education" at the initial session.

Cleveland Pastor to Speak.

He will follow the Rev. C. L. Cope, of Leetonia, who will speak on "Beyond Agnosticism." During the same period, Dr. J. H. Blackburn, of Cleveland, will discuss "The Board of Ministerial Training" and "Conference Claimants Commission."

The Rev. E. C. Brooks, recently named pastor of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church here, will read the Scripture and make the opening prayer. Then will follow the "key note sermon" of the conference by the Rev. J. P. Stewart, of Denison.

The Rev. Dr. John H. Edwards, of New York City, will be heard first at the afternoon session when he will speak on the "Board of Foreign Missions." In the evening session at 7:30 o'clock, he will make the principal address of the conference. It will be preceded by a song service and prayer by the Rev. A. R. Elliott, of Toronto.

Two Sessions Oct. 15.

There will be two sessions of the conference on Tuesday, October 15. During the forenoon, a symposium, in which ministers and laymen of the conference will take part, will be featured. It will follow an address by the Rev. W. C. Patterson, of Cadiz, who will discuss "The Value of Pastoral Visitation."

The symposium will be opened by Will T. McNutt, chairman of the official board of the First church, when he responds to the subject, "The Kind of A Preacher I Like." Then will follow the Rev. H. E. Bight, pastor of the First Methodist church, of Steubenville, on the subject, "The Kind of A Layman I Like."

In turn E. E. Davidson, C. A. Miller and J. F. Ellis, visiting churchmen, will discuss "The Kind of A Pastor Young People Like."

Prayer at the outset of the morning meeting will be offered by the Rev. W. E. Tilton, of Uhrichsville. Dr. Powell Presides.

The fourth and final session of the conference will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The sole address of this interim will be made by the Rev. J. H. Butler, of Wellsville. His theme will be: "Pentecostal Power Today."

Business of the conference will be consummated under the direction of the Rev. Dr. Powell at this meeting.

Because Bishop Herbert Welch shall have spoken twice in the city on Sunday, Oct. 13, this conference will have many of the earmarks of an annual gathering of the ministers and laymen of the denomination.

No More Piles

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. Mathews Original Cut Rate, and druggists anywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.—Adv.

Hallowe'en

When witches ride the sky — when elves, fairies and spooks are abroad — that is the night for festivities. No party is easier to give than a hallowe'en party. It's so easy to have something "different" if you will spend a little time on your stunts and decorations. Here you will find what you need — favors, costumes, decorations, books of games and all other paraphernalia.

Hallowe'en Costumes—$1.00 to $9.50.

Gay costumes are half the fun at a hallowe'en party. We have a various and picturesque assemblage of costumes for children and grown-ups. A few of which are listed below:

Mexican	Jockey	Raggedy Andy
Chinaman	Gypsy	Bo-Peep
Spaniard	French Maid	Pirate
Wooden Soldier	Fairy Tale Clown	Fan

That Brutal Overseer Roasts in Hades! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Wise legislation has halted the ancient prejudice that dictated the exploitation of child labor for selfish gain. Guided by AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE it has routed greed. No longer are little children forced into slavery.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

Four Damage Suits Filed in Beaver Court.

BEAVER, Pa., Oct. 8.—Suits for damages totaling $30,250 for alleged injuries were filed in court yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. John Bunker and daughter, Delores, and Thomas Barrett, all of Leetsdale, against Charles Butz, Ambridge, as an aftermath of an automobile accident.

The plaintiffs allege that on April 28, Mrs. Bunker and Delores Bunker were riding in Barrett's automobile, driven by Delorme Barrett, his son, when it collided with the Butz's machine, on Merchant street, Ambridge. Mrs. Bunker and her daughter ask $10,000 each, while John Bunker asks $5,000 each on account of the injuries sustained by his wife and daughter. Thomas Barrett seeks $250 damages to his car.

Welcome, W. C. T. U.!

Numbered among the pioneers in the organization of the movement which played no small part in the campaign that preceded enactment of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, East Liverpool today and tomorrow will entertain the thirty-ninth annual convention of the Columbiana County Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

One hundred and fifty delegates, representing virtually every community in the county, are expected to attend the two-day session which will be held in the First Church of Christ. Among the guests of honor and speakers will be State Prohibition Commissioner Rupert R. Beetham, of Cadiz, and Mrs. Viola D. Romans, of Columbus, vice-president of the state union.

Crusade union, as the East Liverpool unit is known, and which was honored with the 1929 convention, is one of the oldest in Ohio. It was launched in 1874, one year after the formation of the state organization, and for more than a half century it has been active in every movement for the furtherance of right living, to which the W. C. T. U. is pledged. East Liverpool welcomes Columbiana county women banded together in the north-while cause of temperance and prohibition, and hopes that their visit will be enjoyable.

Dignity Of The Court

A bill has been proposed by Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan to amend the judicial code to provide for the substitution of judges in "indirect contempt" of court personal in their nature. The defendant in any proceeding arising from an attack upon the character of conduct of the judge, not made in open court, may file a demand for the retirement of the sitting judge before the hearing, if he so wishes, under the stipulations of the bill. A new judge would be designated automatically upon the filing.

The freedom of the press has been the most aggravated recent defendant in a case of this nature. In the layman's consideration, it seems manifestly unfair that a judge should sit in his own case, be complainant and mete out punishment for a personal grievance and it is unnecessary to call attention to the abuses that have arisen from time to time in carrying out the doctrine of "constructive contempt," a dangerous extension of indirect contempt.

Newton D. Baker, defense council in the most recent case involving a newspaper, said, "The dignity of the courts is not preserved by severity upon their critics but by the righteousness of their decisions."

The last phrase in this terse summary of the courts' position in civic life certainly precludes any such inconsistency as a judge hearing and judging a case in which an insult to himself is the issue.

Nobody's right would be diminished by taking away the judge's privilege of vindictive his own virtue or, perhaps, of satisfying his own petty anger. Mr. Vandenberg's bill would merely make the prejudiced legislator's substitution compulsory for the greater benefit of everyone concerned.

Of the ultimate passage of this bill there should be little doubt. Otherwise, it will appear that criticism of an institution which man has established for his own protection is forbidden.

Colorado Prison Mutiny

Killers of the stripe that precipitated the Colorado state prison mutiny must have known when they staged their uprising that the odds were overwhelmingly against them. Yet they murdered innocent prison guards and pitched their bodies out of the cell block in which they were barricaded. If they had hoped to weaken the resistance of the prison authorities by such cruelty they were even thicker-brained than the average criminal.

Corned like rats after they had carried on their carnage for hours, these killers shot themselves to death. They were whipped at the outset, or they would not have been in prison. They might have shot their way to freedom, had they encountered spineless officials confronting them, but even so they could not have hoped for uninterrupted freedom. They were criminals, and the brand was upon them. And they would most assuredly have been returned to their cells.

The families of the guards are entitled to sympathy. It is to be hoped that Colorado will attend to the matter of compensating them for the losses they have sustained, although this will by no means fill the gap left by the deaths of husbands and fathers. As for the assassins who killed them, and later committed suicide to avoid penalty, it's too bad they were not captured alive that they might have been strung up by their necks to pay for their treachery.

Herrick Inheritance

Parmely Herrick, son of the beloved ambassador to France, whom this nation and France still mourn, has been chosen by a number of old friends of the late President McKinley to take his father's place as a member of the nation-wide association that each year makes a pilgrimage to the McKinley crypt in Canton to pay homage to the martyred Ohioan. There could not be a more fitting tribute to the memory of Myron T. Herrick than to have his son assume that place.

A national figure this Herrick scion has become, through his close association with Colonel Lindbergh, through his association with other national and international figures and through his participation in many national affairs concerning the welfare of his nation. Mr. Herrick, since the death of his father, looms as a fitting successor to the mantle that cloaked the genial companion of French statesmen.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8.—With every other major industry in the world going forward to larger destinies, with new industries constantly springing up, coal alone appears to have been left behind. Much has been said in the last few years about the depression of the coal industry in the United States. It is the same all over the world. Although the world has become largely rehabilitated since the war and industry generally is more active than in any pre-war year, the increase in the production of coal during the last fifteen years throughout the entire world has only equalled the regular annual increase up to that time.

In 1912 world production of coal was 1,215,000,000 metric tons, according to figures compiled by the League of Nations. In 1928 it had grown to only 1,245,000,000 metric tons. In other words, the world increase during a span of fifteen years has only been equal to about three weeks production of American mines alone in normal years only a short time ago. In the meantime, world production actually has dropped below 1912 production. Taking 1913 as a typical year and giving it an index number of 100, we find, by scrutinizing the League of Nations statistics, that in two years, 1924 and 1925, this index dropped to as low as 88.1. In 1928 the index was only 102.4.

Compare this with foodstuffs and raw materials generally and we find a similar experience in no other line. There have been definite gains and, still counting 1913 as representing an index base of 100, we find for these other commodities an index number of 125 for 1928. This is a general average. In many industries, the index has shot up to 200, 300, even 1,000.

There are many reasons entering into the plight of the coal industry of the world today. Chief among them are causes springing from the conservation idea—more scientific and less wasteful use on the one hand and substitution of other fuels on the other.

Fuel engineers have increased the number of horse power derived from a given coal tonnage by 50 per cent in the last 12 years. The railroads have always been the largest single customers for coal. Fuel engineers have been busy with locomotives with the result that while, in 1920 it took 197 pounds of coal to move 1,000 tons of weight one mile, in 1928 only 142 pounds of coal were needed to perform the same work. This 29 per cent decrease has saved the American railroads in this period $450,516,000 in coal bills. Obviously it has taken an equal amount of business away from the coal industry. Such economies have not been confined to America. They are worldwide. Germany, for example, has effected a reduction of 10 per cent in her coal consumption, for the same amount of power produced, by the improvement of burning methods.

The substitution of other fuels has much to do with the depression which has visited the coal industry, perhaps to stay. Railroad locomotives and steamships have been converted to oil burners. Whereas, at the time of the Armistice, ocean tonnage burning oil amounted to only 1,500,000, oil-burning ships now have an aggregate tonnage of 20,500,000. The League of Nations is responsible for the statement that while in 1914 only 34 per cent of the ship tonnage of the world burned oil, today the ratio has increased to 38 per cent.

This hits England particularly hard as she has for generations been the supplier of bunker coal all over the world. The United States has never exported largely both because of the steady demand at home in the past and the high cost of production which enabled the British to undersell the American product.

Governments have made various efforts to better the condition of the coal industries in their various countries. Tariffs have been erected and controls of production employed but little benefit seems to have accrued to the industry. Many mines remain shut down and thousands of men in all coal-mining countries are out of work where they have not found other employment. The British coal owners are now engaged in attempting to perfect a group selling scheme by which they hope to lessen cut-throat competition and extend their export trade.

Questions and Answers.

Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing to our Information Bureau in Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau can not give advice on legal, medical, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in coin or stamps for return postage. The reply is sent direct to the inquirer. Address the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Is wrestling permitted in boxing? E. C. C.
A. It is not permitted. As late as the eighteenth and first half of the nineteenth centuries, wrestling formed an important part of boxing contests.

Q. How does the meat packing industry of Europe compare with that of the United States? C. S.

A. The meat packing industry in Europe is not comparable with that in this country. There are no big centers, that is, the industry is decentralized. The number of cattle killed in the United States in 1928 was estimated to be 21,000,000 head. The number in Europe was: Germany, 8,000,000 head; France, 5,600,000 head; Great Britain, 3,500,000; Netherlands 1,000,000. The number of hogs killed in 1928 was: United States, 76,500,000; Germany, 23,700,000; Great Britain, 6,700,000; France 6,500,000; Denmark, 5,300,000. The industry in Denmark is the nearest approach to centralized slaughtering to that of America due to its large export business in bacon.

Q. How much does a goose liver weigh when the Strasbourg geese are killed? H. F. C.

A. In Strasbourg where this industry is most important the geese are confined in small dark cages so that they can move only a few inches. They are fed two or three times a day commonly with all the ground maize or wheat flour paste they can be made to eat. At the end of about three weeks when they are very fat they are killed. The liver usually weighs from 2 1/2 to 3 pounds.

The East Liverpool Review Offers a Booklet About The Size of the Navy

Should the richest nation on earth have the greatest navy on earth to defend her? Should we abolish the navy as an example of disarmament in the interest of world peace? These are the extremes in the navy question. Every citizen should have the facts as well as the argument about the navy. A fact booklet, illustrated with pictures of every modern type of fighting craft, has been prepared by our Washington Bureau to give our readers a real fact picture of our navy and other navies of today.

Here is a picture of me trying, as usual, to make my face more beautiful, and this cake of crystal is not only astringent, but it is anti-septic. It is perfectly clear, and rather soft and soothing. First you wash your face freely with warm water, then rub the cake over your face, until you feel it draw up, and then rinse well with cold water. This is a bit more hard than a piece of ice, and seems to be more effective. The powder puff in my left hand is the one I mentioned a long time ago which operates like a lipstick, and the handle of which contains the powder which is fed to the puff through a little metal tube.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Gloomed among musicians attached to movie theater orchestras. Their number is thinning and while the optimists are crying: "Everything is going to be all right, yet, still the majority believe it is withstanding in the dark."

Coupled with this dilemma there is a complete abandonment of orchestras at dramas and comedies. Until a year ago there was at least a four-piece orchestra to play while the audience was seated and at intermission. Today the orchestra pits, filled with seats, are in eloquent silence.

People, it seems, would rather talk before the curtain goes up. Most big talkie houses have no orchestras. The Winter Garden used to employ around 75 musicians the year around. Now it has none. On a lesser scale this condition is being multiplied by every city in the country.

New York has always been the orchestra capital. No musician could go long without a job, what with the movies, the theaters, the cabarets, the night clubs, road houses and symphony orchestras. Cabarets have cut down the size of orchestras, for dancing, too, is on the wane.

The big skillful-slapping organizations with their rhythmic punctuations, have shrunk to a muted quartette, and in two of the smartest new hotel dining rooms the orchestras are composed of a piano, violin and cello. The number of musicians thrown out of work recently reaches thousands. And more are being let out daily.

Of course, the condition that exists in New York is more acute for those employed in lesser municipalities because opportunities are more limited. Radio work has offered an outlet for a few, but the radio, generally speaking, has aided in adding to the jobless army.

The big shots—Paul Whiteman, etc.—are not troubled what with the talkies, keeping topnotchers busy, but many excellent musicians are turning to other work. Hope is held out that synchronized sound is a fad and that the revolving cycle will again demand musicians in the flesh. But it is only a hope. Nobody is certain.

A sedate gentleman adjusting his spectacles in a cafe today observed:

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Teething time is regarded by most mothers as a serious and even dangerous period in a baby's life. When it coincides with hot weather it is a cause for anxiety. Be sure this expresses the popular view. So firmly fixed is this idea that it is almost foolhardy to express doubt regarding the ancient tradition.

It is interesting to observe the firm hold old-fashioned notions really have on the minds of the public. On other occasions I think I have mentioned what dear old uncle of mine said about infant health.

We were visiting him when our boy was a nursing baby. Uncle was just short of a ninety-year-old at the time, but alert to all his surroundings. Looking the youngster over, he said: "Have you given the baby any pork-rind to chew on? He never will cut his teeth or amount to anything without it."

Teething and what to do to lessen its evils, are as firmly a part of the average life as going to church or voting right. I have nothing to say about the church or politics, except to express the hope that they have a firmer foundation than the fear of teething.

For fear you may be shocked about it, I shall not venture to make my own declaration for a moment. I quote from a great authority on babies: "The cutting of teeth is not, as a rule, responsible for any of the ailments so commonly attributed to the process, and that redness or irritation of the gums are not really connected with it."

But, after all, there is no doubt that certain digestive disturbances appear to be associated with the cutting of teeth. Anything that causes discomfort or lowered vitality, leaves its victims less able to resist infection. Loss of appetite may lead to an upset in the digestive machinery.

I have no doubt that congestion of the gums may prepare the way for infection if unclean things are taken into the mouth. In and event whether teething does or does not produce important symptoms, the best way to prevent trouble is to maintain the general health of the baby by proper feeding, exposure to sunlight and by giving an abundance of fresh air.

Answers To Health Queries.
ANNETTE B. Q.—Do you advise treatment for blackheads?
A.—Yes. For information send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

M. A. M. Q.—I am a girl of 16 and am slightly round-shouldered. Walking properly does not seem to help me. What do you advise?
A.—You might try wearing the proper fitting shoulder braces. These may be bought at any surgical supply house.

ANXIOUS. Q.—What causes an accumulation of phlegm in my throat?
A.—What causes my throat to be dry when I wake up every morning? I also have pains around my right eye and right side of my cheek.

A.—You may be troubled with nasal catarrh, which requires special treatment.
2.—This is a catarrhal condition which is probably resulting in sinus trouble. You should consult a nose and throat specialist for treatment.

Junking The Experts.

Premier Ramsey MacDonald is keeping his word. He is not bringing a host of experts overseas to help him agree with President Hoover that both Great Britain and America would be better off if they did not have to spend so many billions in support of great navies. Both nations have declared their interest in this matter, but their every effort to adopt a simple program of disarmament has been balked by the experts who swarm around conference headquarters. The experts declared that saving the hundreds of millions now wasted every year upon the support of top-heavy navies, whose equipment is obsolete before it is ever put to use, was something that could not be done. It was against all precedent. Every conference was blessed with muchatory praising the principle of the thing, but when the sessions were over the navies remained pretty much as they were. Budget makers handed to the taxpayers of both nations the same old militarist bills, increased with every meeting of congress.

An American citizen who is a fellow passenger on the liner that is bringing the English premier to America was amazed when he saw no British advisers aboard. "Where are the naval experts in the premier's party?" he asked. "Since he is going to make a naval agreement, he will want the advice of admirals."

The reason given was plain and conclusive. It was that if the premier and the American president can come to agreement on policy day navies are being used, Britain would be no more disturbed by American strength nor America by British, than New York is disturbed when Philadelphia increases its police force.

Reduced to these terms it seems to be a very simple process, after all. In the approaching conference it is the majority of the people of both nations who will be represented through their principal officers. There will be no fire-eaters and sword rattlers sitting around the conference table to mess up conclusions upon a severely practical business. Even in the social functions that will be necessary to the conference the seating arrangements for the scrupulous Mrs. Gann have been determined in advance, with no prospect that they will produce another collateral war.

This being the spirit and purpose of the approaching discussion, let it proceed again. New York will give it a good sendoff with a popular welcome to the premier. The greeting he will receive from the metropolis will rank with its action for some of the good will ambassadors of the air. By every standard Mr. MacDonald is the greatest ambassador of all. He proposes to cut the red tape that has restricted the progress of every past conference on the big subject he comes to discuss. It is more than a match for the forces which have derived a heavy financial profit from keeping the nations loaded up with useless navy junk, he will win the blessing of taxpayers, if not humanity.

READER. Q.—What should a girl weigh who is 18 years of age and 5 feet 8 inches tall?
A.—What causes liver spots? Can they be made less noticeable?
A.—For her age and height she should weigh about 138 pounds. This condition is due to poor intestinal elimination. Correct constipation. For other information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Once Over

Wives and Telephones
"You can tell by the way he is speaking that he is talking to his wife."

Ever heard such an expression after a married man had been telephoning to his wife in a more or less public place?

Often the man who is courteous and gentlemanly when speaking to other women is gruff and curt when his wife is at the other end of the wire.

Wives don't like this at any time, but they feel the sting more deeply when they know that others in the same office with their husbands recognize their rudeness to them.

If for no other reason than the pleasure it gives his wife a husband should be as polite over the phone when speaking to her as to other women.

If his wife calls him unnecessarily there might be some excuse for a man to be short and uncommunicative.

If she calls him to discuss family matters and trivial things a man has a right to be displeased.

Wives should remember that working hours belong to the employer.

Only the most important matters should be telephoned to a man at his place of business.

There are not many such instances.

When they come the conversation should not be prolonged.

CLUB PROTEST ON SEWER FILED

East End Organization
Opposes Proposed Extension.

Explains Stand
On Expenditure of $35,000 on Drainage System.

Formal protest against the proposed extension of the city's sanitary sewer system to Ohio avenue, St. George and Railroad streets, East End, was filed with the council by Attorney Ben L.
Bennett, counsel for Precinct B
vic club, last night.

Bennett said that residents of the district had spent between $5,000 and $40,000 in the construction of private sanitary sewers. He added that the city grant of the $15 to 200 property holders the district permission to build these sewers when East End was without a sanitary system and felt that it would be an "injustice" to compel abandonment now.

"If the city feels that a trunk sewer must be extended in this section, we believe that we should be reimbursed for the money spent in the construction of private sewers," Bennett concluded.

Miskall Quotes Ruling.
Health Commissioner Dr. Edward Miskall, in a communication council urging the sewer, quoted a ruling that private sewers putting into the river at num-ous places to be a violation of state health rules. He also stated that officials of the city engineer's office at Pittsburgh had ruled against the plan.

The matter was referred to a committee consisting of Councilmen Edward Green, H. S. Lindell, Colin Frost for investigation.
The committee will confer with property holders and a committee on the board of health.
Bennett also asked for the abandonment of the alley west of the plan Brothers' automobile recking establishment in Jefferson streets. He said that the alley had a 60 per cent grade and had never been opened, and that clients wished to use the request was referred to the streets committee.

Attorney P. V. Mackall appeared before council in behalf of Mrs. J.
R. Phillips, Fawcett street, whose property, he declared, had been damaged by reason of a three-foot cut in the grading of the street.
He asked that the city compensate
Mrs. Phillips. Egress and ingress to garages owned by Mrs. Phillips is impossible by reason of the cut, Mackall said. The complaint was also referred to the streets committee.

C. S. Scroggs, district plant engineer for the Ohio Bell Telephone company, Stenboville, asked council to pass a resolution granting the company permission to construct underground conduit lines
in Walnut street, Minerva street, Avondale street, St. Clair avenue,
Orchard Grove avenue, Anderson
Boulevard, Park Way and Pennsylvania avenue, and build pole lines along streets east of Broadway and Lincoln avenue. The proposal was also placed in the hands of the street committee for investigation.

Written acceptance of the 25-year franchise extension to the Newell Bridge and Street Railway company, was filed. The company has agreed to rebuild its tracks in Fourth street in return for the franchise extension.
No ordinances or resolutions were considered at the meeting
because of the absence of Councilmen Harry Altman and T. P. Ferguson.

JURORS HEAR BRIBERY STORY

Fall's Attorney Calls
$100,000 Innocent
Loan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—
As far apart as the poles were the two stories told the jury sitting in the Fall bribery case today.

From Owen J. Roberts, special oil prosecutor, they heard a tale of felony and secret negotiations wherein a "little black bag" containing $100,000 in cash reached the hands of former Secretary of interior Albert B. Fall and a lease for invaluable federal oil reserves was signed over to E. L. Doheny,
the California oil baron.

From Frank J. Hogan, chief of defense counsel, they heard a story of an innocent loan "from the old friend to another" and a valid oil deal that was highly profitable to the government.

NATURE CLUB TO VISIT HERE

Youngstown Unit Will Inspect Pottery on
Oct. 19.

Fifty members of the geological section of the Youngstown Nature club will visit the East Liverpool district on Saturday, October 19, when they will be guests of the Chamber of Commerce.

The party will arrive here in automobiles at 9 a. m. They will be escorted to Newell where they will be shown through the No. 6 and 7
plants of the Homer Laughlin China company by J. M. Wells, superintendent, and other company executives. The visitors will be entertained at luncheon at the Travelers' hotel at noon.

Following luncheon, they will make a study of the glacial formations near the Thompson Hill reservoir. They will leave here at 3 o'clock for a study of the ground between here and Beaver, returning to Youngstown via Darlington and East Palestine.

TWO ARE CUT AS AUTOS CRASH

Hats In Ring

Treasurer Nominee

John Stamm, retired pottery executive and G. O. P. nominee, in-unopposed for the office of city treasurer at the November 5 election. The job will not be a new one for Stamm who served in the office from 1919 to 1923.

Stamm was born in Cincinnati and came to East Liverpool in 1878. He assisted in the organization of the Potters' Co-operative company in 1882 and was employed in an executive capacity there for a number of years. He later was superintendent at the old Union pottery which occupied the site of the present Litten Motor Sales garage. He held a similar position with the National China company, which later became the No. 2 plant
of the Harker pottery company, from 1900 to 1911. He was also connected with the Ohio Silica company for several years.

He was a member of the board of education from 1914 to 1916. He was acting city auditor during the two years John T. Burns was in military service. He was elected city treasurer shortly after Burns returned.

Stamm is a member of the Second Presbyterian church. He has two sons, Kelm, Wellsville, and Innis, Columbus, and one daughter

Elizabeth, a registered nurse, in Pittsburgh.

POLITICAL campaigning is made easy by talking pictures. Mayor Walker, life size, talks at different places in New York's streets, dwelling upon his record, in a clear voice, with appropriate gestures, preceded by loud music that draws the crowd.
And the real Mayor Walker may

Owa-Ton-Na Halts Indiges- tion, Now Enjoys Food

Stomach Disorders and Nervousness Defied Treatment For Ten Years. This Fine Old Indian Remedy Quickly Rooted Them.

Present day foods and methods of living make indigestion and stomach disorders common al-ments. Very few of us are fortunate to escape the discomforts brought about by this condition.
Care must be exercised in the selection of a remedy to overcome these disorders. Frequently serious damage is done by harmful agents. Nature, in her own fields and woods has supplied man with simple harmless remedies which successfully root these disorders.
No race has more successfully used these natural remedies than our own American Indian. Unfortunately, few of these secrets have ever been obtained by the white man, but those which the white man did learn have been emulated successfully. Owa-Ton-Na is a remedy of Indian origin. This formula which was used successfully through many generations is proving equally successful today.

Its worth in kidney, liver, stomach and intestinal disorders, rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness and a general run down condition of health, is being proclaimed by thousands in mild as well as obstinate cases, where it has brought results when many other methods of treatment had failed. So successful has it been in stomach disorders that many now keep it handy for emergency. You, too, will be pleased with its mild and prompt action.

Those who suffer from stomach disorders and nervousness should find in the report of Mr. Thomas Richards, 211 West Third street, East Liverpool, Ohio, renewed hope since Owa-Ton-Na brought him new found health after many other methods and treatments had failed. He says:

"I suffered from a severe case of stomach disorder. I tried everything I ever heard of to find relief yet nothing seemed to do me any good. Food would lay in my stomach for hours at a time and almost feel like I had a lump of lead in there.

"Gas would form and crowd my heart. Frequently it got so bad it made me short of breath. Then I would suffer with terrible dizzy spells. Many times when I stood over, I would have to watch myself when I straightened up. My bowels always seemed to be constipated and I continually had to take laxatives which just seemed to make my condition worse.

Backaches and pains in my joints made me feel miserable.

Root Is Cubs' Starter; Liberty Mack Choice Doubtful

Athletics, Bruins to Re-enact Drama of 19 Years' Standing; Odds of 11 to 10 on Philadelphia.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Chicago, Chicago, that toddlin' town, coldly turned its back on the fiddler this morning and this time paid its dollars and its homage to an equally interesting but far less exciting maestro.

McCarthy

It was the great day of the opening game of the 1929 World series and, for once, Chicago forgot its jazz, its loves and hates, its vendettas, its very conscience and, light hearted as always, hastened to this new goddess of joy and knelt at her shrine. Chicago today was a town bereft of all save baseball reason.

Connie Mack

It had been ten years since the Cubs, was in a World series for the first time since 1918. It was about to re-enact a drama of 19 years standing, for the opposing club was the Philadelphia Athletics and it was the old Athletics who beat the old Cubs in 1910 for one of the major upsets of baseball history. And finally the day was to be Chicago's first reunion of the World series graduating class of 1919, when the backbone of a great ball club, the Black Sox, sold out the old, loyal town for a dollar-and-ninety down and the rest in faithful payments from Mrs. Mayvorne's daughter, Kathleen.

51,000 Jam Wrigley Field.

It had been ten years since the town had the right to shout but today the graduating class was back on the old campus, shouting more gleefully than ever. It had a winner again and, better still, the town knew that if this one didn't remain a winner, it at least would lose honorably.

No wonder 51,000 lucky citizens were to overrun Wrigley field at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon when the first ball was to be pitched by Charley Root, of the Cubs. No wonder the life of the city and virtually the state was in a state of arrested animation while the eye and ear of the community was focused on the scene where history was in the making. No wonder the night life of the town summarily deserted the loop and had its headquarters at the mite, darkened portals of Wrigley field where thousands outwaited the night with what patience they might.

The betting, what there was of it, was said to be slightly in favor of the Athletics at odds of 11 to 10. However, this was not a betting series or, at least, the boys were waiting to see which way the cat jumped in the first game.

Mack's Hurler in Doubt.

Root already had been nominated as the Cub pitcher as early as yesterday but the Athletic board of strategy still was naming no names as the day of the big game dawned; in fact, they went even further and said that no Athletic left hander would operate in Chicago at all. This meant that, if Earnshaw got by the first game, either Jack Quinn or Howard Ehmke would be out there in the second, with Grove pitching the Philadelphia premiere on Friday.

Both Root and Earnshaw are fast-ball right handers, the former getting the call because the Cubs have no left handers or any particular genius, whereas Mack probably leaned toward Earnshaw because of the presumption that the Cubs were death to left-handers. As a matter of fact, their season's record showed that their son's ability against this kind was only slightly in excess of their winning average against right-handers and, besides, the understanding was that Grove liked to pitch to right-hand batters. However, it was deemed likely that Grove might be a better pitcher if he waited until the tension of the series was somewhat lightened.

It's not what you pay but what you get that counts. It's wisdom to pay $10 and get

Six-club Dux League Opens Season Tonight.

Forbes "Scotty" Alcock's Liberty duckpin loop will be revived for the 1929-30 campaign tonight when two of the six entries in the circuit swing into action in the opening set of the season.

The entries have been cut from eight to six clubs this fall, with two new teams in the lineup, the Golden Stars and the Club Billiards.

With virtually all of the old duckpin stars back in action, together with a number of new performers, the league expects a good season.

The teams and players follow: Milliron — Greene, Rhythe, Laferty, Scragg, Betteridge and J. Wurzel.

Smith News — Canne, Unger, Ashbaugh, White, H. Wood and B. Irwin.

Gulf Gas — C. Morris, Howell, Carr, Vorndran, Rumberger and Farrell.

Golden Star — Welch, H. Schneidmiller, Sprinker, Cunningham, Gerber and Troisenc.

Club Billiards — Dietz, J. Schneidmiller, A. Kidd, Barth, W. Wood and Diddle.

Liberty — Alcock, Strabley, D. Morris, Myers, C. Kidd and Maley.

Week's Schedule.

Tonight—Milliron vs. Liberty.

Thursday—Smith News vs. Club Billiards.

Friday—Golden Stars vs. Gulf Gas.

Potters Win At Palestine

Plan Fifth and Final Tilt of Series Sunday.

As a result of their 6 to 5 victory over the East Palestine independents Sunday at East Palestine, the Homer Laughlin baseball club of Newell probably will return to the north county city next Sunday for the final clash of the five-game series.

A large crowd saw the clubs battle last Sunday and, weather permitting, another large turnout is expected when the rivals fight it out in the deciding game. Each club has won two to date.

The local Potters had a narrow squeak in the fourth tilt. After leading with a six-run margin for six innings, they saw the Holy City combine drive in four corners in the sixth and another in the ninth to come within one of tying it up.

Laughlin showed a run across in the fifth on Watson's single and Sapp's double. But they had their big inning in the fourth when they scored five runs and chased Rafferty, who had trimmed them by 10 and 32 scores in previous games, from the hilltop.

Digman led off with a single. Jackson doubled, Randall walked. Jackson singled, Bayley singled and Watson turned in his third hit of the game to account for the five runs.

The home club scored four in the sixth on three hits, aided by three misuses in the Laughlin defense. Meeks led off with a double followed by another of the same variety by Johnson. Finley and Digman erred in succession. Hamilton also singled in this frame.

With two East Palestine batters gone in the ninth and the count 6 to 4, Hawkins, the one-armed outfielder, reached first on Sapp's error and scored on Hawkins' triple. Merchant's stop, then, of Meeks' hard hit liner, retiring the runner at first for the third out, provided one of the fielding features of the engagement.

Pollock's pitching also was outstanding. The big southpaw fanned two men in each of the ninth and tenth, third, fourth and fifth frames, one in the sixth and three in the eighth for a total of 14 strikeouts.

Hamilton, who relieved Rafferty in the fourth, pitched fine ball, showing a good fast ball with which he fanned six in five innings, allowing but two bingles and no runs.

WATCH SERIES ON STAR PLAYER

The above photograph is a view during last year's series of the crowd which thrilled to the home run slugging of Ruth, Gehrig and company. With two new contenders, for a change, battling in the annual fall classic which opens today in Chicago, interest should be as great, or even greater. The Cubs and the Macks clash at 1:30 p. m., Central standard time, or 2:30 p. m., East Liverpool time, today and tomorrow. In Philadelphia the starting time is the same as it is in East Liverpool. The Star Ball Player will give the details of each day's game, play by play, as they occur in the respective ball parks.

Records Of Past Tilts

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Here are a few facts concerning world series:

The largest attendance for a series was in 1926 when 328,051 watched Yankees and Cards play seven games.

The smallest is 62,232—the number that witnessed Chicago and Detroit play five games in 1908.

The largest attendance for a single series game was in 1926 when 68,000 jammed the Yankee stadium as the Yanks and Cards played their second game.

Chief Bender, former Athletic star, and Walter Hoyt, Yankee under-taker, are tied for the lead among the world series pitchers with six victories.

Christy Mathewson of the Giants is the only pitcher to score three shutouts in a single series. The Athletics were the victims in 1905.

Bill Wambach, Cleveland second baseman, made an unsanctified triple play against the Robins in 1920. This is the only time a triple play of any variety has been made in a series.

The Robins and Red Sox played the longest series game when they went fourteen innings in 1916.

Frankie Frisch of the Cardinals has a .318 series batting average, the best yet recorded. Frisch has played in four of the fall affairs and collected 40 hits in 115 trips to the plate.

Babe Ruth, in five series, has averaged better than .300 at the plate. In addition, the Babe holds the record for home runs, runs scored, runs driven in, extra bases and etc.

LIST TO LEAD ORME BARBERS

Ralph List was named captain of the Orme Barbers' basketball team at a meeting of players last night.

List is a former Geneva college track man and basketball star, as well as a prominent figure in other sports. Don Mackall, baseball and basketball star, will assist List during the season.

Among the candidates for the squad are Ralph George, Earl Fullerton, Harmon, G. M. McCoy, Talbott, Chaffee, Gus Mautz, Crow Cutter, G. Mackall, W. McCoy and Knight.

Teams desiring to book games can call Manager Earl Fullerton at 2476 or write 1355 Pennsylvania avenue, care Orme's barber shop.

MOVIES SHOW BISHOP ERRORS

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 8.—Moving picture films were the medium which Coach Gauthier showed the battling Bishops the mistakes which they made in their game with Marietta. Ohio Wesleyan had an easy victory over the downstate team, but Gauthier found some glaring mistakes which might have been costly in another game. A light workout was held yesterday in preparation for the team's tilt with Athens Saturday in a Buckeye conference game.

BOLES PERFECTS AERIAL DEFENSE

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 8.—Coach Boles is stressing an aerial defense which will try to stop Akron's passes in the Saturday Wooster-Akron game. Putting and tackling was also emphasized at the practice workout yesterday.

JACKETS PLAY AT FT. WAYNE

DEFIANCE, O., Oct. 8.—Despite two trimmings already this year, Coach Wilson is encouraged by the spirit of his Yellow Jackets and the undergraduate body. He expects Defiance to put up a stiff battle with Concordia when the team journeys to Fort Wayne Saturday. Offensive tactics were taught to the varsity eleven yesterday.

MARIETTA STAR BACK IN ACTION

ATHENS, O., Oct. 8.—John Brammer, Marietta end and captain of the Ohio university Bobcats, who has been held on the sidelines for three weeks because of a sprained ankle, is to return to the varsity lineup today. In a light workout yesterday, forward passing was rehearsed and the Bishops from Delaware will be fought with that weapon Saturday.

AKRON U. SET FOR WOOSTER

AKRON, O., Oct. 8.—Coach Blair, of Akron university, said today he would give his squad stiff workouts throughout the entire week in preparation for Saturday's game with Wooster. Two men are on the injury list but they are expected to be in the lineup for the game with the Polesman.

AT BOSTON:—Johnny Indrisano, Boston, won ten round decision over Tony Shucco of this city.

AT COLUMBUS:—Tracy Cox, Indianapolis featherweight, won the decision over Eddie O'Dowd, Columbus (10).

Fighting Buckeye Team Preps For Iowa Battle

Punting and Passing Game May be Employed by Willaman's Eleven Saturday.

EDDIE LOOS

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 8.—(INS) —The great American spirit of loyalty and rooting for the "under-dog" manifested itself on the Ohio State university campus here today and the students, coeds, too, have started the yearly yell of "beat Iowa!"

Those who watched the varsity eleven in a rough scrimmage yesterday afternoon, were given an idea of hope. Even if the Bucks fail to win from the team from the tall corn state they will go down fighting. The intensity of the workout promised this.

The first reports of Iowa's charges reached the camp here, said that the Hawkeyes were weak in passing the oval. State may try the aerial attack for scores.

But the visitors will have a staunch forward wall, and plenty of backfield punch. When the final whistle blows, according to dopesters, the Iowans will have a larger score, but some believe their lead will not be more than a pair of touchdowns.

Meanwhile Willaman's proteges are going through a stiff training diet. The varsity team was revamped yesterday. Holman, though limping slightly, was in the quarterback berth barking signals. Huston and McConnell were playing the halves and Bob Hohn, who gave promise of a flashy halfback last week, was in the fullback position for a time.

The second stringers also saw some new faces. Thompson, a former local high school star, was in the fullback berth. He displayed great ball carrying ability and some of the varsity men could take lessons from him in blocking.

At one time in the scrimmage, he proceeded Coffee down the field, and warded off three men by himself while Coffee got away for a 50-yard run. He looks like good material for the first eleven.

Punting was stressed at the workout yesterday. McConnell and Horn were sent to one side of the practice field with the pigskin and ordered to kick, kick and kick. They did and their punts were creditable.

From appearances now, State may try to out-punt the Hawkeyes and then resort to passing when the ball is in the Iowa's territory. One of Willaman's charges was overheard saying that he wished for a dry field Saturday. To some that means nothing, but to others it indicates that State will try a punting and passing game.

Two men are on the injury list. Al Hess, who did a lion's share in the Wittenberg game, has an injured knee. Barratt was sent to the sidelines after a short signal drill, but he is expected to be in form today.

Here's bantamweight Eddie Loos, of East Liverpool, who makes his first ring appearance in the district "Pizzone" Wellsville favorite, in a four-rounder on the opening program of Valley A. C.

The bout is listed as a "surprise package" by Matchmaker R. Fouts.

Pizzone last year bowled over opposition. He packs a pretty good punch and in his fights so far he shown a gameness which most of his opponents couldn't overcome.

But Loos against Pizzone more or less of an unknown quantity. Loos is the smartest of Pizzone has been called upon face in his career to date and he ought to fly when the p minx.

LIVELY STEPS IN "GOOD NEWS"

Laurence Schwab, himself a graduate of Harvard, together with Bud De Sylva, an alumnus of Broadway and Tin Pan Alley, wrote the book for "Good News," the collegiate musical comedy that Thursday night, Lew Brown contributed the lyrics, and that popular composer, Ray Henderson, whose "Black Bottom" created a sensation in George White's "Scandals" several seasons ago, furnished the music. The lively dance steps and gyrations were arranged by Bobby Connelly. One of the big dance hits is "The Varsity Drag." There are many songs of a tuneful nature, including "Lucky in Love," "Good News" and "The Best Things in Life Are Free."

The company is a large one, approximating 100 people, and includes Jack McDonnell, Edith Sheldon, Kathleen Kidd, Jimmy Donnelly, Audrey Christie, Philip Conyers, Geo. Bokues, Edward J. Gull, Irving S. Carpenter, Joan Paget, Pearl Harris and Edwin Michaels, together with a large singing and dancing ensemble and George Olsen's famous "Good News" band, with Tick Wardell directing.

Pastor Attends Conference. The Rev. Dr. J. G. Rehnitz, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, left today to attend the semi-annual conference of the Pittsburgh synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church, to be held in the Church of the Redeemer, Monaca, Pa. The session will close tomorrow.

Lodge Honors Three Members. Golden Rod, No. 20, Women's Benefit association, held a social last night in the Sons of Veterans' hall, East Sixth street, honoring Mrs. Margaret Elkins, Mrs. Paul Johnston and Miss Leona McConville, who will celebrate their birthdays during October. Gifts were presented.

A short business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Mame Harsho.

Refreshments were served by Mesdames Frank McConville, John McAllister, George Gluth, Harvey Rodgers, George McGlaughlin, and Mame Harsho. Covers were arranged for 25.

The next meeting will be held October 21.

Missionary Meeting Oct. 15. The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Orchard Grove Avenue Methodist Episcopal church will meet Tuesday night, October 15, in the home of Mrs. H. C. Hoff, Orchard Grove avenue, instead of tonight as previously announced.

Miss Dawson Entertains. Miss Dorothy Dawson entertained employees of the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Pottery company's decorating department, last night, at her home in Rural lane. Music and games were diversions. Piano selections were featured by Miss Dawson.

Dahlias and Hallowe'en novelties were used in decorations of the home and the appointments of the luncheon served by the hostess' mother, Mrs. Albert Dawson, assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Leslie Tatzenhorst, and Mrs. Sadie Schneider.

"GREENE CASE" PACKS ACTION

If only one reason were needed for the continued success of talking moving pictures that reason could well be William Powell.

Here is an actor who was seemingly born for the "talkies." Brilliant performer that he appeared to be in his earlier work in the noiseless mummery of the silent screen, he is by contrast, a veritable demigod of dramatics in the newly vocalized screen world.

East Liverpool saw and heard Powell yesterday at the State theater in "The Greene Murder Case."

It is a great play, thrilling, tense, packed with action and amazing plot situations. It is better than "The Canary Murder Case," because the crimes seem more baffling of solution, because the story carries a greater number of amazing surprises.

It deals with the misfortunes of the strange Greene family, a bed-ridden paralytic mother and her four children. With a fortune at stake should she die, the household is suddenly gripped by a series of tragic killings.

It is top-notch entertainment. Well it should be. It has great plot material; a supporting cast which includes Florence Eldridge.

Edward Remy Host. Edward Remy entertained a group of little friends at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Remy, 268 Seventh street, Saturday night, with a Hallowe'en party. Games, music and dancing were diversions. The home was decorated with autumn flowers and leaves.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Remy, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Eggleton.

Willma Garner, Wilma Overdorf, Rose Turk, Mildred Dietz, Harold Blatchford, Harry Greenwood, Byron Ellis, Robert Eggleton, Bobbie Guidoo, Charles Eggleton, Ruth and Harry Martin, Mary and Doris Connor, Shirley and Jack Beagle, Margaret Chapman and James McNeill were guests.

Lodge Will Install Officers. Deputy Jeannette Morlock of Elvira will install officers of Tri-State Sisterhood No. 199, Dames of Malta, following a dinner in the Ceramic Cafeteria, West Fifth street, Friday night.

MISS COSTELLO WINS PLAUDITS

Dolores Costello, one of the most beautiful and popular screen stars, appeared last night at the American theater in her latest Warner Bros. all-talking production, "Hearts in Exile." This is an intensely interesting story of Russia and Siberia, presenting the age-old triangle in an entirely different way, and with a new and startling climax.

The fair Dolores has been seen in many fine roles but her followers will agree that, in "Hearts in Exile," her great beauty and unusual talent have full scope. In a Russian story, with a colorful background of both beauty and sordidness, she does the finest emotional acting of her career. And even in the dreary Siberia setting, clad in a drab, shapeless dress, she is delicately beautiful. Playing the role of a Russian peasant is a departure for Miss Costello, in doing it so well she proves that there are no limitations for her in the field of emotional acting.

In "Hearts in Exile," Miss Costello, as Vera Ivanova, is faced with the problem of marrying the man she loves and remaining in the slums of Moscow, or leading the life of a lady as the wife of a nobleman. Disgusted with her sweetheart Paul, a reckless young University student, she marries Baron Palma and spends a peaceful year in luxury. Then follows a period of strife, with husband, wife and former sweetheart finally meeting in a Siberian prison camp. Realizing that his beautiful wife still loves Paul, Baron Palma solves the problem in an unusual and dramatic way.

The other members of the cast do splendid work, particularly Grant Withers and James Kirkwood.

DR. FUMANCHU IS THRILLER. Every audience will love to join the great detective Nayland Smith in his mad, adventurous chase of that wily, oriental character, "The Mysterious Dr. Fu Manchu," taken from the pages of Sax Rohmer's world-famous book and made to live on the talking-screen at the Ceramic theater. The picture opened a three-day run last night.

Gripping, awful mystery—crime footsteps in the dead of night—an unseen hand spreading terror and destruction—a beautiful girl hypnotized to work the will of a cruel maniac—and love dominating, controlling, triumphing in the mystic maze of a revengeful career.

"The Mysterious Dr. Fu Manchu" is one of the greatest mystery stories ever written and it is one of the greatest moving pictures ever made. In dialogue and swift action, the strange, crafty villain, who thrilled millions in Sax Rohmer's books, comes to life, spreads out before us on the screen, inspires us with a nameless terror, spins us on to his capture and leaves us with a thankful feeling of relief when, captured at last, he clears the way for true love.

Warner Oland in the title role is great. The master villain of the screen has been doing oriental roles for years but never have his performances approached the perfection of this one. Jean Arthur and Neil Hamilton are irresistible as a pair of young lovers.

The right way to redye Finest Silks

TEXTILE manufacturers always use special dyes for silk or wool. They know that is the only way to secure the most perfect results. The makers of Diamond Dyes are the first to enable home users to follow this plan.

Next time you want to dye some of your more valuable articles of pure silk or wool, try the special Diamond Dyes in the blue package. They will give these materials clearer, more brilliant colors, with greater depth and permanence than any "all purpose" dye.

These special Diamond Dyes are just as easy to use as ordinary dyes. Like the white package Diamond Dyes, they contain the highest quality aniline money can buy. That's what makes them go on so smoothly and evenly, without spotting or streaking. That's the secret of their brilliance; their resistance to sunlight, wear, and washing.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the highest quality dye prepared for general use. It will dye, or tint, silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon (artificial silk), or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye for silk or wool only—with it you can dye your valuable articles of pure silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. When you buy—remember this. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk or wool. Your dealer has both packages.

Diamond Dyes contain the highest quality aniline money can buy. And it is the aniline that counts. They are the life of that count. The source of their rich colors; brilliance and permanence.

REPUBLICAN MAYOR IN OHIO CITY FINES DEMOCRATIC FOE

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 8.—(INS)—Mayor F. C. Johnson, a Republican, today is credited with drawing first blood in the election campaign against his Democratic opponent, T. M. Henderson. Henderson was arrested for driving an automobile while intoxicated. He was arraigned before Mayor Johnson and pleaded guilty. Mayor Johnson fined the Democratic candidate $100 and costs and deprived him of his driving rights for six months. The city official also passed a 30-day jail sentence against Henderson, but suspended it.

And the sweetest part of the victory, according to Johnson, is the fact that there was no exertion on his part.

Midnight Raid Nets 450 Gallons of Wine

Police Squad, Headed by Chief Fultz, Dumps Liquid and Holds D'Anito Rosso For Hearing Tonight.

WELLSVILLE, O., Oct. 8.—Charged with illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, D'Anito Rosso, living in Thirteenth street just off Commerce, was arrested last night by a police squad, headed by Chief John Fultz.

The raiders destroyed 450 gallons of wine, they said, and Rosso was held for a hearing tonight before Mayor Wallace L. Fogo.

The squad included, besides the chief, Patrolmen Pugh, Cole and Dushman.

Rosso was aroused from his slumbers by the authorities, the raid being held at midnight.

CARBISELLO FACES COURT

Liquor Trial Under Way Before Judge Lones.

Trial of Joseph Carbisello, Wellsville, jointly charged with Giuseppe Volino, of near Highlandtown, with manufacturing distilled liquor, was under way today before a jury in common pleas court.

Carbisello and Volino was arrested by Sheriff William J. Barlow and Deputies Harroff, Eels and Virden, who according to the sheriff, found a 175-gallon still in operation when they invaded Volino's farm just off the Wellsville-Salineville road several weeks ago.

Carbisello asked for a separate hearing. The state's only witnesses are the members of the raiding party and a chemist.

The still and necessary equipment have been set up in the court room as exhibits.

COUPLE WED FIFTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shanks Honored at Party.

Honoring the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shanks, of Kountz avenue, neighbors of the couple held a surprise party for them recently in the school house adjoining their home.

The anniversary occurred Sept. 26. At that time, however, Mr. and Mrs. Shanks were guests at a similar observance, held by relatives in Aspinwall, Pa.

Mr. Shanks is employed at the American Sheet & Tin Plate plant here.

Approximately 100 attended the party. Committee of neighbors provided an entertainment program and served luncheon at the close. Recitations were given by Miss Evelyn Hendricks, Mrs. Charles Wilkinson and Mrs. Frank Roush.

A number of songs by girls of the community featured the affair.

Mrs. Austin Ferguson presented the couple with a gift from the guests.

Miss Laura Anderson, teacher of the women's class of the local Methodist Episcopal church here of which Mrs. Shanks has been a member for a number of years, presented them with a five dollar gold piece as a gift from the class.

Mr. and Mrs. Shanks have lived here for approximately 40 years, having come from western Pennsylvania.

M'KEE FUNERAL
ON WEDNESDAY

Widow of George McKee Dies in Home.

LISBON, O., Oct. 8.—Funeral services will be held here at 2:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for Mrs. George McKee, 86, who died in her home, North Beaver street, Sunday. Services will be in charge of the Rev. F. C. Lake, pastor of the Christian church.

Mrs. McKee, born here July 2, 1843, was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Byers. Her husband died on May 23, 1912.

Surviving are two sons and two daughters, George McKee, of Lisbon, Edward McKee, at home, Mrs. Annie Feasline and Mrs. Helen Hirst, of Youngstown; two brothers and one sister, George Byers, of Knox township and William Byers, of Alliance, and Mrs. Minnie Lamott, of Alliance. Nine grandchildren are also living.

TWO DIVORCE
ACTIONS FILED

LISBON, O., Oct. 8.—Mrs. Helen Thodorakia of Salem, has asked the court for a divorce from George Thodorakia, charging extreme cruelty and failure to provide. They were married five years ago in Cleveland. The wife seeks restoration of her former name, Helen Hamacher.

Mrs. Nedra Tice, a minor, through her mother, Mrs. Emma Sutherland, has sued for a divorce from her husband, Donald M. Tice, now in Ashtabula. Mrs. Tice is living with her parents in East Liverpool. The couple were married in Lisbon on January 7, 1928, and she says that she has been forced to live on the charity of friends. She asks restoration of her former name, Nedra Sutherland.

GEORGE LONES'
WILL IS FILED

LISBON, O., Oct. 8.—Will of the late George Lones, whose death occurred recently in Middleton township, was filed in the probate court, but as Judge Lodge Riddle was a witness to the document it was necessary to certify it to the common pleas court for probate. He leaves his entire estate to his widow during her lifetime, and at her death it is to be distributed among nieces and nephews. Frank M. Glenn and F. J. Moore are named executors.

LEGION WILL DEDICATE NEW HOME OCT. 18

Lisbon Will Take on Military Air for Night.

DISTRICT MEET
State Commander
Dudley White on Program.

LISBON, O., Oct. 8.—Lisbon will take on a military air Friday night, October 18, when the American Legion home, West Lincoln way, will be dedicated at a rally of Legionnaires from seven counties in the tenth district.

State Commander Dudley White of Norwalk will be the principal speaker at the banquet which will be held at 6 o'clock in the dining room of the Presbyterian church. The Rev. D. E. Scott of Ravenna, former pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Lisbon, and former chaplain of John Welsh post, will also give an address.

At 8 o'clock a military parade will be held. A prize will be awarded the post having the largest number in line.

Immediately following the parade, there will be a competitive drill of firing squads.

A competitive drill in the manual of arms is also planned. At the conclusion of the drills and the parade, the dedication ceremony will be held in the new home of the legion, which formerly was the First Reformed church.

There will be a dance and other amusements during the evening.

FARM BUREAU
PLANS PROGRAM

LISBON, O., Oct. 8.—The Madison Farm Bureau will meet at the West Point Grange hall Thursday night, when S. T. Howard, service manager, will present a three reel picture. Music will be in charge of the West Beaver quartet. A piano solo by Helen Custer, reading by Nora White, and solo by Carl Fife, will be other features.

SALEM WOMAN
GIVEN DIVORCE

LISBON, O., Oct. 8.—Mrs. Pearl Williams of Salem, was divorced by Judge Lones from George Williams on grounds of willful absence since April 17, 1926. They were married in Salem on October 28, 1925. Mrs. Williams was restored to her former name, Pearl Nushbaum.

J. R. MORRISON
DIES; AGED 60

LISBON, O., Oct. 8.—Funeral services were held here today for Jacob R. Morrison, 60, who died in his home in West Washington street. The Rev. F. C. Lake, of the Christian church, will be in charge of services. Burial will be made here.

For 30 years Mr. Morrison was a traveling salesman for the Good Roads Machinery company and for many years he was a member of the Columbiana county fair board, and was starter at the county fair races.

Surviving are his widow, nee Miss Eva Clapsadle; his father and four brothers; Dallas and Thomas Morrison, of Sebring, Frank Morrison, of Lisbon and William Morrison, of California.

Sebring

The executive committee of the Boy Scouts met at the home of William Moosman, North 15th street, Wednesday night when plans were made for a campaign to raise funds for the scout troops for the next three years. Those who will do the soliciting are William Moosman, J. E. Torbert and Sumner Oesch.

Invitations have been extended to debate coaches to attend a meeting at Eris', corner 15th and Ohio, Wednesday night, Oct. 16. The schools which are included in the debating circle and whose coaches will be at the meeting are Lisbon, East Palestine, Carrollton, Minerva and Sebring. The purpose of the meeting will be to make plans for debates during the winter.

Mrs. J. B. Klingensmith, wife of Dr. J. B. Klingensmith, West Ohio avenue, who suffered a heart attack, is still confined to her home. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schmuck, West Ohio avenue, announced the birth of a son, Wednesday, October 2.

Mrs. Floyd Wolf, West Maryland avenue, is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. G. Huffer, at Ellwood City, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Severance and daughters, Edith and Imogene of South Bend, Ind., are visiting with Mrs. Severance's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lindsay, West Virginia avenue.

"Without smooth skin
no girl can be fascinating,"

say Hollywood's

39 foremost directors

THAT little thrill of glad surprise—it never fails when you meet the beauty of a really lovely skin.

"Undoubtedly, smooth beautiful skin is the great heart winner. The fact that it is of prime importance in making a star and holding her popularity has proved that," says George H. Melford, prominent director, summing up the experience of 39 leading Hollywood directors.

9 out of 10 screen stars use this soap

The next time you see her in a close-up, notice how smooth Lux Toilet Soap keeps Aileen Pringle's skin. When next you see your favorite star, whoever she is, remember that 98% of all the lovely complexions you see on the screen are cared for with Lux Toilet Soap.

Indeed, all the great film studios, following their stars' example, have made Lux Toilet Soap the official soap in all their dressing rooms.

This white fragrant soap is made by the method France uses for her finest toilet soaps.

JANET GAYNOR'S lovely skin is famous. "There is a caressing quality to Lux Toilet Soap that I never found before except in the finest French soaps," says this Fox star. "My skin feels so soft and smooth."

BESSIE LOVE'S blonde, brown-eyed beauty is admired by thousands. "Lux Toilet Soap is a lovely soap. It leaves my skin so softly smooth," says this charming star.

For the Safety of Your Home

Sixty-five per cent of all fires occur in the home. More than 7,000 lives are lost by fire in American homes each year.

To safeguard the home and family, as well as the community, the Stock Fire Insurance companies have provided numerous measures of prevention and protection, through the National Board of Fire Underwriters and other organizations.

Such measures involve the use of proper building materials, better building practices, the testing of home utilities, lighting and heating devices, fire extinguishing apparatus, and other services.

Department of Building Construction

The National Board Committee on Construction of Buildings assembles the best available information on reliable building materials and construction methods.

Few indeed are the municipal building codes that have not used in whole or in part the information and services of this department.

The Fire Defenses of Our Cities

For the improvement of community fire defenses, the engineers of another department of the National Board—Fire Prevention and Engineering Standards—have studied and surveyed more than 400 American cities, many of them several times. Their work is supplemented in smaller cities by engineers of other organizations maintained by the Stock companies.

The improvements in water supplies, fire alarm systems, building codes, fire departments and methods of fire fighting, made upon the recommendation of these engineers, constitute a principal factor in strengthening the fire protection and fire fighting facilities of our cities.

Public use of these advisory services, which are available without charge, for the conservation of life and property from destruction by fire, has contributed to the constant decline of the average fire insurance rate in this country for more than 20 years.

An interesting booklet called "Safeguarding the Home Against Fire" will be sent free upon request.

UNCLE POM

By Henry C. Rowland

A sparkling, swift-moving mystery romance

SYNOPSIS.

Pemerey Penfold, a wealthy American, widower, nearing 50, loves to travel and visit friends. When the story opens he is a guest at the chateau of his sister, Alicia, and her husband, the Comte de Renner. He is disturbed by the sight of an intruder—a man in yachting costume—who appears on the estate, and stares rudely at him. The count's lovely 20 year old daughter by a first marriage, Maia, admits having met the man in America, and says his name is Capt. Seagrave.

Kirby Colton, handsome scapegrace son of an American bishop, an old friend of the Penfold family, calls at the chateau unexpectedly and is invited to spend the night. He, too, has met Maia in America.

The count surprises Uncle Pom by telling him Maia loves him and indicating the marriage would please him. Maia overhears them and confirms her father's remarks. Later she confesses that both Kirby and Seagrave are erstwhile suitors. Knowing the two hate each other, Uncle Pom goes in search of Kirby to avoid a clash. He is attacked from behind, knocked unconscious, and robbed of a belt containing priceless diamonds. That night a prowler in his room tries to choke him, then escapes. Maia suspects Seagrave of both attacks—he is always in financial difficulties—but Kirby astounds her every one by offering an alibi for his rival. And he confides in Uncle Pom that he has not come to see Maia, but to borrow $1,000 to save an innocent girl from trouble. Penfold gives him the money.

Seagrave calls, and is unabashed when Penfold tells him he is under grave suspicion for assault and battery. He denies the charges, announces that he intends to marry Maia, and infuriates Penfold by hinting he knows something to the girl's discredit, which he will use as blackmail. Pressed for details, he declares she is involved in a case of murder, and says Colton can confirm the story, as he was a witness. Colton explains that Maia did shoot a man in America by accident, but through Seagrave's fault. He challenges the latter to a duel, but later agrees with Penfold that this would only bring scandal to Maia's name and the best thing for Kirby to do is to clear out at once.

First, however, Kirby makes a deposition, swearing he fired the shot in order to forestall more blackmail threats, and surprises Penfold by confiding that he has just put through a coup with European financiers that will make him rich. He pays off the rebel on Seagrave's yacht, hoping to get rid of him, because he feels Maia has more cause to fear him since she asked Kirby not to clear his rival's name with the alibi.

That night Uncle Pom is disturbed by a noise downstairs and, investigating, finds that the count's sword has disappeared. He suspects a duel and begins searching the grounds. He hears Maia and Kirby talking in the moonlight and discovers they are in love. He releases Maia from the engagement and then tries to persuade Kirby not to go on with the duel but in vain. Seagrave proves to be the more skillful fencer. He injured Colton, though not seriously.

INSTALLMENT XXVI.

CONFESSION.

After the doctor had gone, Mr. Penfold went to his room, lighted a cigarette, and got into bed. He wanted to do some hard thinking, and hoped that this process might be aided by the illumination. Here was a problem of the sort that he had so often worked out by deduction in his fiction reading and from the facts of criminal cases published in the newspapers. It was intensely irritating to find himself at a loss, now that he played the leading role in such a mystery.

It must be that his habitual clearness of thought had been clouded by his personal emotions, so that his vision had not been true. It seemed to him that the only way to a solution must be in a complete self-detachment that might enable him to view the persons concerned and their possible motives with the unprejudiced eye of a stranger.

He found his ability to do this less difficult than it would have been some hours previously, for the simple reason that the three most vitally concerned had shown him personalities that he would never have suspected them to possess. This was particularly true of Maia, and her behavior throughout that had culminated in her cool withdrawal from the false relationship as his fiancée helped Mr. Penfold tremendously to consider her impersonally.

He discovered then with astonishment that herein lay the solution to a large section of the big saw puzzle, that part of it that intimately concerned Maia. As long as he had taken her for granted, as a sweet, unsophisticated, and tenderly sheltered with a child's limpid nature, the glasses through which he viewed her must have remained fogged. But now, revealed as a desperate, sorely driven woman, threatened with the exposure of an act of manslaughter—innocent enough but that was yet in danger of ruining her life—her actions and reactions became potentially different, and the field of their examination widened.

Mr. Penfold sat bolt upright in bed. His rapid and startled vision wasazing through the open door of discovery, when there came a soft tapping on the door of his room.

"Entrez," he called, and Maia entered. Though accustomed to the different facets of Maia's beauty, Mr. Penfold was startled at the one now presented him. The golden glow that was this girl's individual color note was emphasized, warm and ruddy as a flame. Her eyes looked wider and longer than he had ever seen them, and suggested autumn leaves at the bottom of a clear spring.

She closed softly the door behind her then stood for a moment looking thoughtfully at Mr. Penfold.

"Sit down, my dear," he said, quietly.

Maia seated herself on the foot of his bed. "Uncle Pom, I've come to make a confession."

He nodded. "I expected that. Mr. Penfold did not see fit to add that it was only within the last few seconds that he had felt reason to expect it.

Maia's face contracted. "Then Kirby did see me, after all."

"Not that I'm aware of," Mr. Penfold said quickly. "At any rate Kirby hasn't said a thing to me. I arrived at my conclusion by deduction. It couldn't have been Seagrave, according to Kirby's alibi for him, and I did not believe that it was Kirby, so there was nobody else but yourself. You were the first to find me lying there."

Maia was silent for a moment. "You are keen, Uncle Pom. What have you thought about it—and me?"

"That's easy. The truth, of course. You came on me lying unconscious, and you were quick to see that I couldn't have fallen but had been struck down, and your first act was to feel for my heart. You ripped open my waistcoat, then merely tugged up my clothes to bare my chest. When you found my heart pumping away, you caught sight of my belt. It was a broad woven elastic thing, and to make an embarrassing confession—"

Mr. Penfold smiled. "I had worn it for some months to improve my figure, help my waist line, before it occurred to me to have a couple of pockets attached."

Maia looked amused. "Vain old thing. You didn't need it a bit. And then?"

"You saw the bulge in the pocket, guessed it must contain something of value and, since you were about to hurry after help, it occurred to you most sensibly to take precautions against whoever struck me down—Seagrave as you believed—to return and plunder me. Why not? You would have done that, even if you had not just become my fiancée."

"Right so far," Maia said. "You are really wonderful, Uncle Pom. And then why did I say nothing about having taken those lovely stones?"

"Easier still. You believed that Seagrave intended to blackmail you, so you saw the chance to hang a stalemate on him. Assault and robbery."

Maia nodded. "But why do you say I took only the diamonds? The belt and money in the other pocket were missing, too."

"That's harder. Somebody must have been watching you, and the moment you ran for help slipped to where I lay and made off with the belt. For some reason, that person, then tucked in my clothes and buttoned my vest—askew."

"Who could that have been," Maia asked, "if not Seagrave?"

"I don't know. Somebody skulking near by. Kirby saw Seagrave way down the shore just a few moments before you met Kirby. So it couldn't have been Seagrave."

"Who, then?" Maia repeated. "I can't imagine. But you concluded later that it must have been Kirby himself, and that he had probably seen you fumbling at the belt. You thought he knew about my having the diamonds on my person, and that he entered your room that night to search for them. When you found his monocle, you were sure of it."

"That's the fact," Maia admitted. "But I couldn't see why he should have offered an alibi for Seagrave."

"What do you think now?" Mr. Penfold asked.

"I don't believe it was Kirby," Maia said slowly. "For awhile I thought that Kirby had cleared Seagrave from sheer, bold bluff. Because the last thing you would expect of a man who must be the next under suspicion would be to offer an alibi for the only other suspect. Especially if it were a man he detested."

"Let that be for the moment," Mr. Penfold said. "Why did you make this rendezvous with Seagrave last night?"

"That was a forlorn hope to bribe him off," Maia said.

"With what?"

"The blood poured into Maia's face. "Must I tell you, Uncle Pom?"

"Of course not. It was all right, my dear. You were acting for my happiness more than your own. You meant to go through with your marriage to me, and you knew that I'd rather give up a handful of stones like that than have my bride subjected to the notoriety of a trial for manslaughter."

"That's it, Uncle Pom," Maia said eagerly. "I meant to say to Seagrave, 'Nothing you can do is going to keep Mr. Penfold and myself from being married. So you can take your choice between informing on me and getting let in for it yourself or taking these diamonds and clearing out and keeping your mouth shut.'"

WAR VETERAN SHRINKS IN SIZE

SAWTELLE, Cal.—Shrinking in size an inch each year, Joseph Mayott, 54 years old world and Spanish war veteran, presents a strange problem to medical science, it became known today.

Mayott is suffering from Paget's disease, the technical name for dissolving of the bony structure of the body and medical science has admitted that it is unable to aid him.

In the past eight years he has lost nine inches in height, Mayott declared.

Two years ago he came to the soldiers' home at Sawtelle for treatment and since that time more than 400 physicians have examined him.

To Make Inexpensive Glassware Sparkle Like Costly Kind

Simple New Way Does Wonders and Is Kind to Pretty Hands—Use Any Kind of Soap

Even the most inexpensive table china and glassware can be made to look far better than its price in a simple way. It can be given the brilliancy and sparkle of the most costly kinds; and glassware particularly is judged by its sparkle.

Simply add one teaspoonful of the cleansing preparation called CALMARENE to your water. Use the same soap you ordinarily do, but use only ONE-FOURTH the usual quantity. Wash as usual.

This preparation is a grease dissolvent, while soap is, strictly speaking, a detergent. Thus it gives shine and sparkle while soap often leaves a greasy film that's hard to get rid of even with the most careful drying.

Most hotels use this method to make glass and china gleam. Housewives like it not only for this reason, but because it acts to soften and whiten skin fabric of the hands.

Results are surprising. Try it. Get at any grocery store in 10c or 25c package. Just ask your grocer for CALMARENE.

"COOLIDGE COOKIES" TICKLE PALATES OF JOHN AND BRIDE

PLYMOUTH, Vt.—Cookies filled with chopped raisins that have tickled the palates of three generations of the Coolidges were served to Major John Coolidge and his bride, by Miss Aurora Pierce, the housekeeper at the Coolidge farmhouse for the past thirty-five years.

Then Miss Pierce showed the daughter of Governor John F. Trumbull, of Connecticut, how to make them, as John is very fond of the old-fashioned raisin cookies. Here is the recipe:

One egg, one cup sugar, one-half cup butter, one cup milk, three and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons cream of tartar and one teaspoon soda.

For filling use one and one-half cup chopped raisins, one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon flour, and large half cup of water. Cook filling until it thickens and place a spoonful between each two pieces of cookie mixture and bake.

"They work while you sleep"

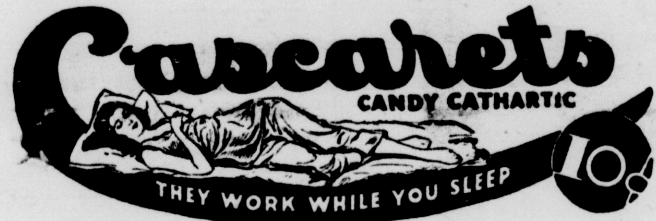

When the bowels need help there is nothing like cascara; nothing more efficient, nothing so good for the system. Any doctor can confirm these facts.

Candy Cascarets give you pure cascara in a most pleasant form. Take one tonight. See how fine you feel all next day. Without discomfort and without harmful effects this gentle laxative cleanses the whole thirty feet of bowels. Cascarets never produce that nauseous feeling usually associated with the use of laxatives. And their action is so natural that there is no danger of forming the laxative habit. You can take them as often as you please—or give them freely to children or old folks.

A coated tongue or a laden breath is a signal for a candy Cascaret. Or a sick headache, or any sluggish feeling; any time you believe the liver and bowels are not functioning fully, Cascarets will sweep away accumulations in the lower bowel. They are sweetened with pure cane sugar and flavored with real licorice, making them the ideal laxative for children.

Full medical endorsement proves their principle is right; the use of 20 million packages a year proves their effectiveness.

The East Liverpool Review Co-Operative and Travel Accident Insurance Policy For Any Accident!

Most Newspaper policies pay only for travel or traffic accidents and provide no protection for injuries at home, at work or at play

Through special arrangement with the Columbus Mutual Life Insurance Co., a reliable old line insurance company of Columbus, Ohio, this newspaper is able to offer all its old and new subscribers an entirely different type of newspaper accident insurance policy. The offer provides for a $1,000.00 Co-Operative Industrial and Travel Accident Insurance Policy to the members of every household between the ages of 15 and 70 years.

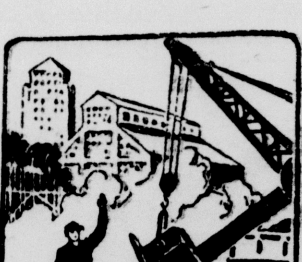

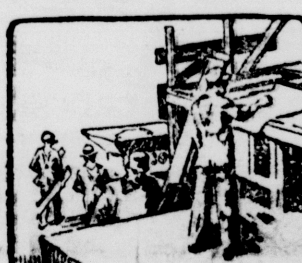

Under the new plan factory workers, machinists, bricklayers, carpenters, farmers, housewives, business men, electricians, taxi drivers, motormen, city firemen, policemen, railroad employes, miners, barbers, traveling men, in fact everyone, without any restriction as to occupation, may secure protection against loss of life, limbs, sight or time as the result of any accident at home, at work, at play or while traveling, as provided in the policy.

The New-Co-operative Industrial and Travel Accident Policy pays for loss of life, limbs, limb, sight, or time caused by any accident.

Accident insurance in this day of mile-a-minute living is a vital necessity carried by every wise man for the protection of himself and family. The new policy increases one hundred dollars ($100.00) each year and may be renewed year after year under the same conditions and for the same cost of $1.50 a year. If one paper is delivered at the home or received by mail every member of the family between the ages of 15 and 70 years, living at the same address, may obtain a policy at $1.50 for each policy, without taking an extra paper.

Injured at Work

WHEN CHILDREN ARE UPSET

ACIDINE will relieve them swiftly and surely. Hundreds of mothers have told us of the remarkable effect ACIDINE has on the sick stomachs of children because ACIDINE is pleasant to take, is slightly laxative and sweetens up the stomach, most upset stomach is no time, GAS, SOURNESS, VOMITING, PAIN, CRAMPS, disappear as though by magic. If your child is troubled by any of these things, OR COLIC, use ACIDINE, morning and night. You will be surprised at the immediate improvement in the child's general health. CONSTANT DAILY USE OF ACIDINE MEANS THAT YOUR CHILD WILL BE FREE FROM COLIC THIS WINTER. WE GUARANTEE THIS, ON A MONEY-BACK BASIS.

Try ACIDINE. If it isn't better than anything you have ever used, if it doesn't relieve your child at once of STOMACH UPSETS and COLIC, your druggist will refund your money promptly.

Wife Was Fat No Longer Attractive Lost Husband's Love

The above headlines appeared in New York newspaper of April 4 in connection with a divorce trial that has attracted wide attention.

"She was a beautiful woman," one witness testified, "but she got fat and is not attractive any more."

Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their beauty just because they do not know what to do.

If you are fat how would you like to lose it and at the same time gain in physical charm and acquire a clean, clear skin and eyes that sparkle with buoyant health?

And gain in energy and activity? Why not do what thousands of women have done to get rid of pounds of unwanted fat? Take one half a teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast and keep it up for 30 days. Then weigh yourself and see how many pounds you have lost.

You'll have the surprise of your life and best of all a bottle of Kruschen Salts that will last you for 30 days only costs 25 cents—you'll probably say it's worth one hundred dollars after you take the first bottle.

Kruschen Salts are a blend of 6 natural revitalizing salts your body nerves and glands have. If you are to enjoy good health. Ask Carman Drug Co. or any druggist for a bottle of Kruschen Salts and start to lose fat today.—Adv.

DANGEROUS STOMACH ULCERS

Result from Neglected Stomach Acidity. Too Often Treated as Indigestion. Watch These Symptoms.

Stomach trouble is bound to get worse if you don't treat it properly, and dangerous ulcers may form before you realize. An excess of stomach acid causes gas, heartburn and indigestion, sours and ferments the food and attacks the delicate stomach lining. The fermented food then forms still more acid and makes a dangerous, vicious circle.

Merely to stop the pain of indigestion is not enough. But for full protection against chronic acidity and stomach ulcers, more potent means are required. Bismarated Magnesia neutralizes excess acid instantly, and thus, by removing the cause of the trouble, gives quick relief. But still more important, it works to soothe, heal and protect the sore, inflamed stomach lining. Don't take risks with anything less efficient. To-day get a trial package of Bismarated Magnesia—either powder or tablets—from the nearest drug store. Either form will give at most instant relief.—Adv.

SHOULD BE ABLE TO CHECK HAT IN COURTROOM, SENTNER SAYS

By David P. Sentner.
I. N. S. Dramatic Editor.
(Copyright, 1929, by I. N. S.)
NEW YORK.—One of the most boring things about murder trials is that there are always the same even number of jurors in the jury box.

In "Scarlet Pages," presented by A. H. Woods, an original contribution is made to this numerical problem. There is no jury box and only phantom jurors are used.

It is also an extremely cute lesson in stage economy.

In the skeletonized courtroom scene of this production, there is a mongrel blend of realistic and impressionistic devices.

The witnesses come out of the audience. As a result, the audience spent half its time looking suspiciously at the person sitting to the right or left.

The men witnesses carried their hats to the witness stand. Now, in a wide newspaper experience of covering murder trials I never knew a witness to bring his headpiece to the stand with him unless the hat was also under subpoena.

When it turns out that the lady lawyer, who is defending the pretty night hostess for murder, is really the mother of the defendant, a reporter leaps to his feet in excitement.

I never knew a reporter to leap to his feet for anything that he didn't have to.

Those who think of European drama as decadent would probably term "Scarlet Pages" continental.

Nora Mason, (Claire Luce), night club hostess, kills her father because he attacked her. Toward the end of the play after the tastelessness of the theme is revealed that the man was not really her father but had adopted her from a foundling home.

Mary Bancroft (Elsie Ferguson) becomes Nora's defense counsel. After the revelation that Mary is the true mother of Nora, the woman lawyer makes an impassioned, and truly dramatic summation to the phantom jury, and the defendant is acquitted.

There is an interesting final act in which Nora decides whether she will return to her poor old foster-mother (who made her gold-dig the menfolk in the cabaret) or whether she will stay with her wealthy and charming lawyer mother.

Giving the full effect of a professional artistic ending, Nora stays by the old lady and foregoes the luxury and ease offered her by her true mother.

I think Nora is crazy. Moreover, no cabaret moll who like Nora would stand on her head, albeit virtuously, for a goldpiece, would pass up a racket like that.

Despite her bouncing vehicle, Elsie Ferguson is elegant in her part. She carries the burden of the production gracefully and delightfully. It would be a pleasure for any man to be defended for murder by her.

And Claire Luce works hard and convincingly in the role of the young murderess. Formerly a Ziegfeld dancer, she has stepped smoothly into an emotional part and should become a better and better actress.

The play, hammered together by Samuel Shiptman and John B. Hymer, contains several lines far in advance of Boccaccio.

"Scarlet Pages" is tasteless enough in theme and competent enough in acting ability to have a marathon of a run on Broadway, if the Puritans will leave it be.

BUS SUPPLANTS STAGE COACH

LEADVILLE.—This remaining outpost of the roaring mining camps of the old west has gone

the way of all modern civilization. The last stage coach, operated by John Mitchell, one of the few old-timers of the romantic 50's left sold his horse and retired the other day.

A new motorbus was substituted for the ancient stage coach.

When the Weary Firemen Have Put Out the Last Spark

WHEN the grim fight is finally won and the tired firemen have turned off the water and gathered up their hose—in that dark hour when you sadly survey your ashes and ruins—then you become vitally concerned about the actual protection your insurance provides.

With a CENTRAL Policy, you know the insurance quality is there, that the company is absolutely sound, that it adjusts claims fairly and pays losses promptly, and that CENTRAL'S annual dividend (30% for the last eight years) represents that much actual saving in insurance cost. The wise buyer, considering quality first and then cost, will specify a CENTRAL Policy.

From Financial Statement July 1, 1929

Insurance in force	$373,157,824.00
